“Noah”

Genesis 6:9 – 11:32

Torah Together

This Torah portion tells the story of Noah and the Flood. Some people believe the historical account given in this story is true while others believe it to be myth. In either case, by studying this story, there are some truths about God’s character to be discovered that can help us understand how he feels about mankind and how He interacts with us.

1. The Flood - 6:9 - 8:22

a) How is Noah described in 6:9? What do you think it means to be righteous and to walk with God?

b) What was God’s assessment of the earth at this time? What characteristics of man did God find objectionable? Does Matthew 24:37-39 provide additional insight?

c) Describe the physical ark that Noah was to build. What were its dimensions in modern units? Do you think it was big enough to do the job?

d) How many of which kinds of animals was Noah to take into the Ark? How do you think Noah knew about “clean” and “unclean” animals? Was Noah obedient?

Scripture Link:

Hebrews 11:7 states, “By faith Noah, when warned about things not yet seen, in holy fear built an ark to save his family.” Can you imagine what it must have been like to invest the time and energy to build this enormous structure based only on his belief that God was going to do this unbelievable thing?

Would the Ark Float?

Maritime engineers have examined the seaworthiness of a vessel built as described in this passage. It has been shown that such a craft would float low in the water with little chance of overturning and with limited maneuverability. Just what the ark would need!

The First Rain?

Some believe that it had not rained on earth before the flood. (See Genesis 2:5-6) Originally, the atmosphere may have held a large volume of water vapor, keeping the environment cloudy with a constant temperature. This cloud cover may also have provided some protection from the deteriorating effects of solar radiation. With the introduction of rain, the cloud cover would have been largely removed. The increased solar radiation may have played a part in decreasing the lifespan of men from slightly less than 1000 years to between 100 and 200 years.

Where is Mt. Ararat?

Mt. Ararat is the highest mountain in Turkey, located in the eastern part of the country in the Anti-Taurus range.

e) How old was Noah when the flood began? Can you date the flood from the time of Adam's creation? At what time of year did the flood begin? From where did the flood waters come?

f) How was the door of the ark shut once they were all inside? How long did the rain last? How deep were the floodwaters? How long did the floodwaters cover the earth?

g) Where and when did the ark come to rest? When did mountaintops become visible? How did Noah test to see if the flood waters had receded enough to support animal life? When did Noah come out of the ark? How long had they lived in the ark?

h) What did Noah do first after leaving the ark? Why do you think he did this? Was God pleased?

2. God's Covenant with Noah - 9:1-17

a) In God's blessing to Noah and his sons recorded in verses 1-3, what pronouncement does He make about the animals of the earth? What do you think life was like on earth before the flood?

b) In verse 4, what restriction does God place on the things man may eat? How are mankind and animals tied together in verse 5? What do you think this means?

c) Verses 8 - 17 record the covenant that God establishes with Noah. Who are the parties to this covenant? What is promised and by whom? Was this covenant conditional or unconditional? What is the sign of this covenant?

Humans and Animals

The implications of Genesis 9:2-3 are very interesting. It can be assumed that before this time, the relationship between man and animals may have been much closer than what we experience today. Furthermore, since God tells Noah that "everything that lives and moves will be food for you," it may also be that before this, man lived on a total vegetarian diet.

The Concept of Covenant

A covenant is a contract or a promise between two parties. In the ancient middle east, when two parties "cut a covenant," a solemn ceremony was undertaken, usually involving an animal sacrifice. The idea was to agree that "may it be done to me as was done to this animal if I break the promise I am entering into today." Covenants could be conditional (involving acts that were required of one or both of the parties for the covenant to take effect) or unconditional. There were often witnesses to the covenant and sometimes a sign was defined as a reminder and outward symbol that the parties were in a covenant relationship.

"So God said to Noah, 'This is the sign of the covenant I have established between me and all life on the earth.'"

Genesis 9:17

Why curse Ham's son, Canaan?

This entire incident may seem strange - what exactly had Ham done that was so wrong? At the very least, Ham was guilty of not honoring his mother and father, the fifth commandment. It also shows a moral flaw in Ham's character, perhaps a preoccupation with sex and the misfortune of others. The fact that Noah pronounces his curse not on Ham, but on his fourth son, Canaan, can be seen as prophetic. When God instructs the Israelites as they prepare to enter the Promised Land several hundred years later, He tells them to "totally destroy" the Canaanites because of their complete depravity (Deuteronomy 7:1-2).

3. The Sons of Noah - 9:18-29

a) After the flood, what agricultural activity did Noah pursue? Describe the incident that this led to. Which of Noah's sons acted honorably and which acted dishonorably? What do you think God is telling us through this episode?

b) As a result of this incident, Noah pronounces a prophecy over his sons. Which son is cursed? How? What do you find interesting about this prophecy?

c) How old was Noah when he died? What year was this from the creation of Adam?

4. The Table of Nations - 10:1-32

a) The descendants of the sons of Noah are the founders of the nations of the earth. Identify as many nations as you can from their ancient names given in this chapter. Do you see any general pattern in the location of these nations? (See map on page 14)

b) What descendant is specifically called out as a “mighty hunter”? What cities did he found?

5. The Tower of Babel - 11:1-9

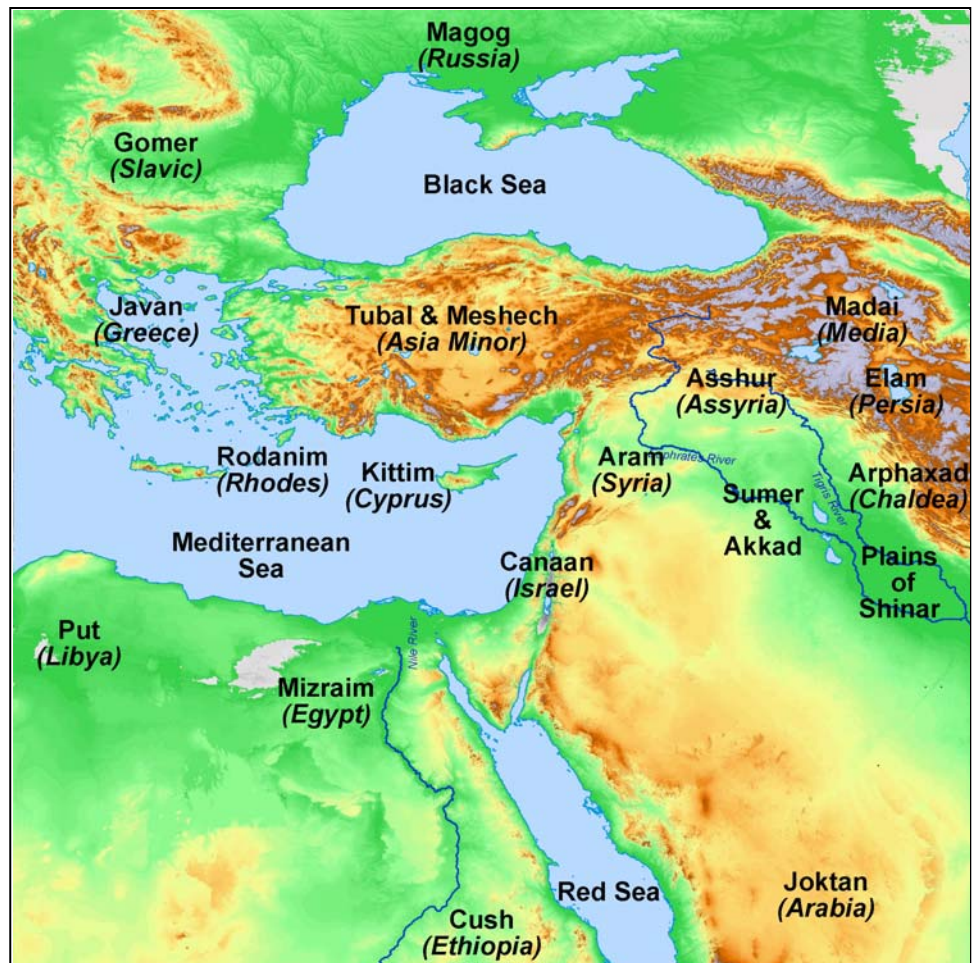

a) What materials were used to build the Tower of Babel and where was it constructed? What might this indicate about the state of mankind at this time?

b) What was the stated purpose for building the tower? What was God’s conclusion after he observed this activity? What did God do about this situation?

c) Given where the Tower of Babel was constructed and who was active there at this time (see Genesis 10:8-12), who do you think might have initiated this project?

The Order of Events

Most Bible scholars believe that the events in Genesis Chapter 10 happened after those in Chapter 11. This seems reasonable because Chapter 11 gives the account of the Tower of Babel in which mankind’s languages were confused and yet Chapter 10 tells of the dispersion of the various people groups throughout the world. Thus the event described in Chapter 11 caused the events described in chapter 10. Why are they in reverse order? It may be because the writer (Moses) wanted to list the genealogy of Abraham before beginning his story in Chapter 12.

The Table of Nations

This map shows what many scholars believe to be the areas settled by the various groups described in Genesis Chapter 10. Because of a lack of historical records, there is disagreement about some of these locations. Notice that the “Plains of Shinar” are located between the Tigris and Euphrates Rivers, in Mesopotamia (a word which means “between rivers”). According to Genesis 10:8-11, this was the area settled by Nimrod and his followers. This is also the area in which the Tower of Babel was constructed (Genesis 11:1-2) leading many to believe that Nimrod was the leader of the group that constructed the tower.

6. From Shem to Abram - 11:10-32

a) Can you calculate the year that Abram was born from the creation of Adam? Was Noah alive when Abram was born? Was Shem? If so, how old were they?

b) Relate the story of Terah and his sons. What were the names of his sons and their wives? Where did they live originally? Which of them went to Haran? Can you locate these places on a map?

Scripture Link

Acts chapter 7 tells the story of Stephen, a believer in the Messiah in the early church. As a part of his defense before the Sanhedrin, he gives a brief summary of the history of Israel. In Acts 7:2-4, he tells the story of Abram leaving Ur and going to Canaan, which of course is consistent with the story in Genesis 11:31-32. The original event occurred about 4000 years ago and the event in Acts occurred about 2000 years ago. There is no document in the history of mankind that has accuracy and consistency of the Bible.

Digging deeper

1. The story of Noah's ark is often used to symbolize some of the more important aspects of Yeshua's redemptive life, death, and resurrection. What symbolism do you find in this story?

2. In Genesis 6:18, God tells Noah that he will establish his covenant with Noah and in Chapter 9 this covenant is described. See what additional information you can find about covenants and how it applies to this story.
